ABBOTT AWARD IN CLINICAL AND DIAGNOSTIC IMMUNOLOGY
American Society for Microbiology

Description:
The American Society for Microbiology invites nominations for the Abbott award in clinical and diagnostic immunology. This award honours a distinguished scientist in the fields of clinical or diagnostic immunology for outstanding achievements in those fields.
Nominees must have made significant contributions to understanding the functioning of the host immune system in human disease, clinical approaches to diseases involving the immune system or development or clinical application of immunodiagnostic procedures. The award includes US$2,500 and travel to the society’s general meeting, where the laureate will present the award lecture.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14

PROCTER & GAMBLE AWARD IN APPLIED AND ENVIRONMENTAL MICROBIOLOGY

American Society for Microbiology

Description:
The American Society for Microbiology invites nominations for the Procter & Gamble award. The purpose of this award is to recognise distinguished achievements in research and development in applied non-clinical and environmental microbiology. Nominees must demonstrate outstanding accomplishment in research or development in an appropriate field and be actively engaged in research or development at the time that the award is presented.

The prize includes US$2,000 and travel to the society’s general meeting, where the laureate will deliver the Procter & Gamble award lecture. Self-nominations and multiple nominations for one candidate will not be accepted.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14
Deadline information: This call is repeated once a year.

FORGE E VALLEY JR PRIZE
American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the George E Valley Jr prize. This recognises an individual in the early stages of his or her career for a scientific contribution to physics deemed to have significant potential for a dramatic impact on the field.

Nominees must have received their PhD no earlier than five years before April 1, 2014.

Nominations of qualified women, members of underrepresented minority groups and scientists outside the US are especially encouraged. Work done by graduate students for their theses is eligible if it is demonstrated that the students’ contributions have been crucial to an important piece of research.

The prize is worth US$20,000. It is presented at the next appropriate society meeting at which the recipient is invited to present a lecture.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14

Deadline information: This call is repeated every 2 years.

TEMPLETON PRIZE

John Templeton Foundation

Description:
The Templeton Foundation invites nominations for the Templeton prize. The prize honours a living person who has made an exceptional contribution to affirming life's spiritual dimension, whether through insight, discovery, or practical works. Nominations are especially encouraged in the fields of:

- research in the human sciences, life sciences and physical sciences;
- scholarship in philosophy, theology and other areas of the humanities;
- practice, including religious leadership, the creation of organisations that edify and inspire and the development of new schools of thought;
- commentary and journalism on matters of religion, virtue, character formation and the flourishing of the human spirit.

Men and women of any creed, profession, or national origin may be nominated. The prize has been awarded to scientists, philosophers, theologians, members of the clergy, philanthropists, writers and reformers, for work that has ranged from the creation of new religious orders and social movements to humanistic scholarship and research about the origins of the universe.

The prize is worth £1.1 million.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14 (Forecast)

Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. This call is repeated once a year.

American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Tom W Bonner prize in nuclear physics. This recognises and encourages experimental research in nuclear physics, including the development of a method, technique or device that significantly contributes in a general way to nuclear physics research.

The prize shall ordinarily be awarded to one person but may be shared when all the recipients have contributed to the same accomplishment. Nominations are open to physicists whose work in nuclear physics is primarily experimental or a particularly outstanding piece of theoretical work. Nominations of qualified women, members of underrepresented minority groups and scientists from outside the US are especially encouraged.

The award includes US$10,000.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14

ARLE K PLYLER PRIZE FOR MOLECULAR SPECTROSCOPY & DYNAMICS

American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Earle K Plyler prize for molecular spectroscopy and dynamics. The purpose of this award is to recognise and encourage notable contributions to the field of molecular spectroscopy and dynamics. The prize may be given for experimental or theoretical achievements, for a single dramatic innovation or for a series of research contributions. The prize shall ordinarily be awarded to one person but a prize may be shared when all the recipients have contributed to the same accomplishments.

The prize consists of US$10,000 and a certificate, plus an allowance of up to US$1,000 for travel expenses to attend the meeting at which the prize is to be presented.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14 (Forecast)
Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. This call is repeated once a year.

ARTHUR L SCHAWLOW PRIZE IN LASER SCIENCE
American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Arthur L Schawlow prize in laser science. This recognises contributions to basic research that uses lasers to advance knowledge of the fundamental physical properties of materials and their interaction with light. Relevant areas of research include:

- nonlinear optics;
- ultrafast phenomena;
- laser spectroscopy;
- squeezed states;
- quantum optics;
- multiphoton physics;
- laser cooling and trapping;
- physics of lasers;
- particle acceleration by lasers;
- short wavelength lasers.

The prize consists of US$10,000 and a certificate, plus an allowance for travel to the APS meeting.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14

EACTOR TECHNOLOGY AWARD
American Nuclear Society

Description:
The American Nuclear Society invites applications for its reactor technology award. This is to be made to an individual or individuals who have made original and excellent contributions to the advancement of reactor technology. The award emphasizes recognition of advances in the areas of design and safety in reactor technology.

Any member of the ANS can nominate a candidate, who does not have to be an ANS member. The recipient will receive an engraved plaque and an award of US$2,000.

SENIOR FELLOWSHIPS
Internationales Forschungszentrum Kulturwissenschaften

Description:
The Internationales Forschungszentrum Kulturwissenschaften invites applications for its senior fellowships. These support excellent scholars, who are well advanced in their careers, who wish to carry out projects in Vienna that combine empirical investigation with thoughtful theoretical work. A thematic link to the IFK’s current research focus on imaginations of disorders is desired but not a prerequisite for application. The IFK will also accept independent projects within the realm of humanities and social sciences unrelated to the present research focus. Scholars of any nationality, and from any institution, are welcome to apply, although preference will be given to applicants of international repute.

SFCC/J ROGER PORTER AWARD
American Society for Microbiology

Description:
The American Society for Microbiology announces the United States Federation for Culture Collections/J Roger Porter award. The award honours outstanding efforts by a scientist who has demonstrated the importance of microbial biodiversity through sustained curatorial or stewardship activities for a major resource used by the scientific community. The recipient will have greatly aided other scientists by demonstrating the fundamentals of culture collections and related resources and the rich biodiversity that such collections preserve. These resources may include collections of cells or microorganisms, databases or tools, or major reference works or services as an essential aspect of either one or more major publications or an extensive work effort.

The award includes US$2,000 and travel expenses to the ASM general meeting. The recipient is expected to deliver the USFCC/J Roger Porter award lecture.

Nominations must be submitted by members of ASM or USFCC. Self-nominations and multiple nominations for the same candidate will not be accepted.

Predoctoral Research Grant
Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers

Description:
The Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers invites applications for its predoctoral research grant. Grants support research on the causes and treatment of sexual offending, including research on the assessment, management and treatment of identified sexual offenders, on the assessment of risk for re-offending and on the treatment of the victims of sexual abuse. During the current granting cycle, ATSA is especially interested in research proposals that target the causes of sexually abusive behaviour, the identification of characteristics that predispose individuals to perpetrate such abuse and the investigation of the optimal intervention methods for preventing the occurrence of sexual abuse.

The total amount of grant money available is US$15,000. Applications requesting any amount up to this limit will be considered. More than one application can be funded until the full US$15,000 has been awarded.

PEACE FELLOWSHIPS
Rotary Foundation

Description:
The Rotary Foundation invites applications for its peace fellowships. Funding supports advanced international education opportunities in peace and conflict resolution. Each year up to 50 master’s degree fellowships and 50 professional development certificate fellowships are offered at one of the Rotary peace centres, which operate in partnership with following universities: Duke University and University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, US; International Christian University, Japan; University of Bradford, UK; University of Queensland, Australia; Uppsala University, Sweden.

The MD is a 15 to 24 month course that includes a two to three month practical internship, while the professional development certificate is a three month course that includes two to three weeks of field study. Applicants applying for the MD fellowships must hold a bachelor’s degree or commensurate experience and at least three years paid or unpaid full-time relevant work experience. Applicants applying for the professional development certificate should have five years relevant work experience with current full time employment in a mid- to upper level position. Proficiency in English for both fellowship types and in a second language for MD is required. The fellowships cover tuition and fees, room and board, roundtrip transportation, and all internship and field study expenses.

Closing date: 01 Jul 14
Deadline information: Applications must first be submitted to local clubs or district endorsements; these submissions can vary but are generally March-June. Applications to Rotary International are due on 1 July, annually. This call is repeated once a year.

HENRY PRIMAKOFF AWARD FOR EARLY-CAREER PARTICLE PHYSICS
American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Henry Primakoff award for early-career particle physics. This recognises contributions made by physicists who are just beginning their careers and helps to promote the careers of exceptionally promising young physicists. The research recognised could either be a single piece of work or the sum of contributions. Nominees must be within seven years of receiving their PhD. Nominations of qualified women, members of underrepresented minority groups and scientists from outside the US are especially encouraged.

The prize includes US$1,500 and a travel allowance to the society meeting to receive the award and deliver a lecture.

PHD DISSERTATION AWARD
Association for Public Policy Analysis and Management

Description:
The Association for Public Policy Analysis and Management invites nominations for its PhD dissertation award. The award is intended to recognize emergent scholars in the field of public policy and management by presenting an award for the best PhD dissertation in public policy and management.

Any dissertation that has been completed in the academic years 2009 or 2010 and granted a degree in that period is eligible for consideration. Dissertations from any discipline are acceptable as long as they deal substantively with public policy issues and are nominated through an institutional member of APPAM.

The award is in the amount of $1,500 in addition to a plaque, recognition at the annual APPAM fall research conference, and publication of an abstract in the Journal of Policy Analysis and Management. A separate grant covering travel costs to the conference will be provided.

RESEARCH TRAINING FELLOWSHIPS
Wellcome Trust

Description:
The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its research training fellowships. These support medical, dental, veterinary or clinical psychology graduates who have little or no research training, but who wish to develop a long-term career in academic medicine.

Applications are encouraged from individuals who wish to undertake substantial training towards a PhD or MD qualification through high-quality research in an appropriate unit or clinical research facility. Fellowships are open to individuals with a relevant connection to the European Economic Area for fellowships to be held in a UK or Republic of Ireland institution. Applicants should not normally be more than 10 years from the date of their first medical, dental or veterinary qualification and should have completed general professional training.

Sponsoring laboratories must be in an eligible NHS or academic institution in the UK or RoI. Candidates may request to spend up to three months overseas during the fellowship. For candidates who are carrying out research in public health and tropical medicine in a developing country location, the duration of the fellowship may be spent overseas. The proposed research must fall within the trust’s normal funding remit.

Fellowships normally provide research expenses and salary for a period of two to three years. In exceptional cases a fellowship may be for up to four years for those who wish to undertake relevant master’s training or diploma course. Candidates who wish to pursue research in epidemiology or bioinformatics, and need to undertake a diploma in tropical medicine and hygiene or a master’s degree as an essential entry point, may be considered for an extra year's funding and course fees.

WELLCOME TRUST/MIT POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS

Wellcome Trust

Description:
The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its Wellcome Trust/Massachusetts Institute of Technology postdoctoral fellowships. These enable postdoctoral scientists to undertake research at the interfaces between biology or medicine, and mathematics, engineering, computer and physical or chemical sciences, firstly at MIT and then at a UK institution. Candidates are expected to identify an important biomedical research question and to propose a personal interdisciplinary training programme to achieve their research aims.

The scheme is open to individuals with a relevant connection to the EEA. Applicants should be about to submit their doctoral thesis or have no more than three years of postdoctoral experience. Candidates need an MIT faculty sponsor who can guarantee that MIT will meet all research costs in their laboratory, including research expenses and access to equipment, and a UK mentor who will provide independent support and advice.

The fellowship lasts for four years, with the fellow based at MIT for two to three years before returning to a host institution in the UK for the remainder of the award.

For phase 1, the Wellcome Trust will provide a stipend, at a level to be set by the MIT faculty sponsors, and additional support to cover miscellaneous expenses including travel, health insurance and small items of equipment. The MIT faculty sponsors will meet all research costs. For phase 2, the Wellcome Trust will provide an appropriate salary for the fellow, research expenses to cover materials and consumables, modest equipment and public engagement costs for the one- to two-year period back in the UK.
WARD FOR BEST DISSERTATION IN PUBLIC POLICY AND MANAGEMENT IN ASIA

INDUSTRIAL CASE STUDENTSHP
Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council

Description:
The Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council invites proposals for its industrial CASE studentships. These provide PhD students with a research training experience within the context of a research collaboration between academic and partner organisations. Projects must be within the remit of BBSRC.

Proposals must be submitted by academia on behalf of the partnership. Each proposal should be led by either an academic supervisor at a UK higher education institution or research council institute, or a supervisor at a non-academic organisation, which may be a charity, a trust, a levy body or a company with established UK-based research or commercial production capacity.

Studentships last for four years and are principally based at the academic partner, although there is a mandatory placement at the non-academic partner for three to 18 months. The non-academic partner must cover placement expenses, including travel and accommodation.

BBSRC will award 125 studentships, each of which includes a stipend and coverage of some fees. For the 2013-2014 studentship year, the stipend was worth at least £13,726 and the indicative fee level was valued at £3,900. Companies with more than 50 employees must provide a financial contribution worth at least £1,400 per year.

AFRICA THESIS AWARD
African Studies Centre

Description:
The African Studies Centre invites nominations for its Africa thesis award. The award aims to encourage research and writing on Sub-Saharan Africa and to promote the study of African cultures and societies.

Any master’s thesis thematically related to socio-geographical, economic, political, juridical or anthropological issues or focusing on the humanities such as history, religion and literature (but with the exception of language and semiotic studies) may be submitted. The geographical focus of the research should be on Sub-Saharan Africa or its migrant communities elsewhere in the world. The thesis must be socially relevant. Any final-year student who has completed a master’s thesis with distinction (80 per cent or higher or a Dutch rating of at least an 8) at a university in Africa or the Netherlands may apply. The thesis must have been examined within one year prior to the deadline for submitting manuscripts. The ASC specifically encourages students from Sub-Saharan Africa to submit their theses for this annual competition.

The award consists of a prize of €1,000 for the winning thesis, which will be published in the ASC African studies collection. The thesis may be submitted if it is written in English, French or Dutch. If the thesis is in Dutch, a five-page English or French summary must also be attached.

JENSEN-MILLER AWARD
Western History Association

Description:
The Western History Association invites nominations for the Jensen-Miller award, funded by the Charles Reddcentre for Western Studies at Brigham Young University. This award, which includes a US$500 cash prize, recognises the best article in the field of women and gender in the north American west. No time period restrictions apply.

Any WHA member, as well as the publisher or author of the essay, may nominate an essay. Articles should have been published during 2012 in a scholarly journal or edited volume.

Closing date: 15 Jul 14 (Forecast)
Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. This call is repeated once a year.

AVID J WEBER-CLEMENTS PRIZE
Western History Association

Description:
The Western History Association invites nominations and applications for the David J Weber-Clements prize. This award is given for the best non-fiction book on south-western America. The competition is open to any non-fiction book, including biography, on any aspect of south-western life, past or present, with a 2012 copyright. The author will receive US$2,500 and an invitation to give the annual Weber-Clements prize lecture at Southern Methodist University.

LUSH PRIZE

Lush

Description:
Lush and the Ethical Consumer Research Organisation invite applications and nominations for the Lush prize. This is awarded to outstanding contributions to replacing animal use in product safety testing. Projects should focus on toxicity testing for consumer products, complementing other projects already addressing the use of animals in medical testing.

In any year where this is a major breakthrough in 21st-century toxicology, a Black Box prize of £250,000 will be awarded to the responsible team or individual. This requires the applicant to be able to illustrate the step-by-step link between chemical exposure to human toxicity and demonstrate the integrated use of emerging cellular and computational tools for making correct safety decisions for a selection of data-rich substances.

In other years, prizes of £50,000 will honour the most effective projects across the following strategic areas:
- science;
- training;
- lobbying;
- public awareness.

Prizes can be awarded to projects anywhere in the world. Individuals may nominate projects, or organisations may nominate themselves.

Description:
The Agropolis Foundation invites nominations for the Louis Malassis international scientific prize. This prize recognises individuals or groups of individuals who have, through research, development or capacity building, promoted innovation in order to improve food and agricultural systems sustainability and address food security and poverty reduction. Nominees should not only have made an important contribution to the production of knowledge but should also be actively promoting the use of knowledge in addressing current development challenges, and fomenting collective action across stakeholders. The prize will be awarded in two categories:

- distinguished scientist prize - nominees should hold a PhD with at least 15 years of professional experience, and demonstrate a proven significant contribution in at least one field covered by the prize;
- young promising scientist prize - nominees should hold a PhD with at least five years of professional experience and be no more than 40 years of age on 1 January 2012. Nominees should demonstrate potential in at least one field covered by the prize.

Groups of no more than three may also be nominated, in which case each group member should meet the criteria for individual nominations. Nominations may be made by academic or research organisations, civil society organisations and private sector groups working in any of the fields covered by the prize. Each prize is worth €20,000.

POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH TRAINING FELLOWSHIPS FOR CLINICIANS
Wellcome Trust

Description:
The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its postdoctoral training fellowships for clinicians. This flexible fellowship scheme enables individuals to engage with areas of research that are new to them. It is for candidates who either undertook a PhD early in their career and now wish to refresh their research skills, or have recently completed a PhD and wish to explore a new research field or environment, to gain the skills that will help them answer their longer-term research vision.

Application is open to individuals with a relevant connection to the EEA, for fellowships to be held in an eligible UK or Republic of Ireland institution. The scheme may be suitable for clinicians who are due to complete their higher degree or are no more than two years from the date of their PhD viva by the full application deadline, and clinicians who graduated with a MB or PhD or have achieved a high-quality PhD in a relevant subject, either during or before commencing their initial medical, veterinary or dental degree.

Applicants must have identified a sponsor who can guarantee that the host institution will administer the award, a mentor who will provide independent support, and a research sponsor in every laboratory who can guarantee access to space and resources.

Awards are for two to four years with total costs not normally exceeding £350,000. The award includes a full clinical salary for the research-dedicated years of the fellowship. During any period during which fellows are reintegrating into their clinical training programme, the salary will be funded on a shared basis. Research expenses, support to attend scientific meetings, a flexible funding and inflation allowance, and public engagement costs may also be requested.

WAS-ROSSA REGIONAL PRIZE FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS

TWAS

Description:
The World Academy of Sciences’ Regional Office for sub-Saharan Africa (TWAS-ROSSA) invites applications for its regional prize for young scientists. This seeks to honour young scientists whose research has made a significant contribution to knowledge in the basic sciences. It is expected that by recognising their achievements, the scientists and their institutions will be encouraged to promote scientific research and strive to excel in their endeavours.

Members of TWAS, the African Academy of Sciences, science academies, national research councils, universities and scientific institutions in sub-Saharan Africa may apply. Self-nominations will not be accepted. Nominees must be under 45 years of age, hold a master’s degree, be nationals of Africa, have research experience and be affiliated with a university or national research institution in sub-Saharan Africa.

The prize is worth $3,000 and may be awarded to an individual, or jointly to two or more scientists.

SENIOR INVESTIGATOR AWARDS IN BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE

Wellcome Trust

Description:

The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its senior investigator awards in biomedical science.

These support exceptional researchers with an established academic position and international track record of significant achievement relative to their career stage, who have demonstrated the originality and impact of their research.

The awards provide flexible support to enable researchers to address the most important questions about health and disease. Awards may be small or large, but candidates must be able to articulate a compelling vision for their research and set out the approaches they will take.

The research should contribute to the Wellcome Trust's vision to achieve extraordinary improvements in human and animal health, and proposals should address one or more of the trust’s following five major challenges:

- maximising the health benefits of genetics and genomics;
- understanding the brain;
- combating infectious disease;
- investigating development, ageing and chronic disease;
- connecting environment, nutrition and health.

Applicants based in the UK, Republic of Ireland or a low- or middle-income country should have an established academic post at an eligible higher education or research institution. Applicants based in a low- or middle-income country in sub-Saharan Africa, south east Asia or south Asia, with the exception of India, are eligible to apply if they fulfil these criteria and are working within the trust’s science funding remit.

Awards are worth up to £425,000 per year and for any duration of up to seven years. They cover the direct costs of research, such as research expenses, including research assistance, animals, equipment, fieldwork,

ACCINE INNOVATION AWARD
Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

Description:
The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation invites nominations for its vaccine innovation award. This award recognises individuals or groups of individuals who have achieved significant improvements in the prevention, control or elimination of vaccine-preventable diseases through immunisation or policy. Nominees will be assessed on the following criteria:

- developing country impact – nominees should have contributed to the prevention, control or elimination of vaccine-preventable disease through significant improvements in immunisation quality and coverage among mothers and children in developing countries;
- innovation and creativity – nominees should have applied imaginative and pioneering approaches to overcome difficult challenges to immunising children and achieving impact;
- scale – nominees’ innovations should be at scale or scalable within the nominee’s country and around the world.

Any individual or group of up to 10 individuals may be nominated. This includes academic institutions, governments, health care facilities, research institutions, non-profit organisations and for-profit companies. Self-nominations are not permitted. Residents of Cuba, Iran, Syria, North Korea, Myanmar and Sudan may not be nominated.

The award is worth US$250,000.

V RAMAN INTERNATIONAL FELLOWSHIPS FOR AFRICAN RESEARCHERS
Department of Science and Technology, India

Description:
The Department for Science and Technology in collaboration with the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, invites applications for the CV Raman international fellowship programme. This provides opportunities for African researchers to conduct collaborative research or training for one to six months at universities and research institutions in India. Three categories of fellowships are offered:
• postdoctoral fellowships – these are tenable for six months and include a monthly sustenance allowance of INR40,000 and a contingency grant of INR20,000;
• visiting fellowships – these are tenable for three months and include a monthly sustenance allowance of INR50,000 and a contingency grant of INR10,000;
• senior fellowships – these are tenable for one month and include a monthly sustenance allowance of INR50,000, accommodation of up to INR2,500 per day, a contingency grant of INR10,000, and a local travel grant of up to INR 30,000.

Applicants should be actively engaged in research at a university in an African country. Researchers applying for a postdoctoral fellowship should have obtained a PhD. Applicants for visiting fellowships should be in possession of a PhD, a master’s of technology, a master’s in engineering or have four to six years of research or teaching experience. Applicants for the senior fellowships should be senior experts, scientists or professors.

PHD SCHOLARSHIPS AT AFRICAN UNIVERSITIES

_Africa Rice Center_

Description:
The African Rice Center invites applications for its PhD scholarships related to the rice value chain. The in-depth research will be conducted in a specific hub in one of the member countries of AfricaRice. Suggested topics are:

- agronomy – yield gap assessment and development of baskets of good agricultural practices with rice farmers;
- agronomy – decision-support systems for improved rice crop management;
- mechanisation – quantitative and qualitative loss assessment in rice during harvest and postharvest operations;
- knowledge management – development of knowledge products using information and communication technology to facilitate diffusion of innovations in the rice value chain;
- gender – impact of technology introduction in the rice value chain on gender roles and balances;
- value chain/agri-business – the role of multi-stakeholder platforms in ameliorating the rice value chain;
- marketing – enhancing value addition through contracts, marketing and branding of rice products.
The scholarships are open to nationals from any country and can be used for enrolment at any reputable African university. Candidates must satisfy the target university’s admission requirements for PhD studies and have identified a supervisory professor who must have agreed to the research proposal written by the applicant. Strong preference is given to PhD candidates already enrolled in a university who have finished all or most of the coursework requirements.

Up to ten scholarships will be awarded. Each scholarship will include a stipend, research costs, tuition, travel and insurance.

OSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS
University of KwaZulu-Natal

Description:
The University of KwaZulu-Natal’s Research Institute for Tuberculosis and HIV invites applications for its postdoctoral research fellowships. These one-year fellowships enable young postdoctoral research fellows to engage in a period of uninterrupted research. Fellows will become part of a productive research community and undertake experiential learning in research, which may serve as a path for future professional development.

Eligible scientists have an outstanding academic record in one of the following fields: immunology, microbiology, biochemistry, physiology or chemistry. Candidates must also have obtained their PhD no more than five years prior to submitting their application and have a strong scientific publication record. Ref: PDRF/003/2014/FEB.

ENTOR AWARDS
American Association for the Advancement of Science

Description:
The American Association for the Advancement of Science invites applications for its mentor awards. These two awards honour individuals who during their careers demonstrate extraordinary leadership to increase the participation of underrepresented groups in science and engineering fields and careers. These groups include women of all racial and ethnic groups, men of African, Hispanic or native or indigenous origin and people with disabilities.

The awards are open to all regardless of nationality or citizenship. Two awards are available: the lifetime mentor award, for an individual who has served in the role of a mentor for 25 years or longer; and the mentor award, for an individual who has served as a mentor for less than 25 years. Both awards recognise an individual who has mentored and guided significant numbers of students from underrepresented groups to the completion of doctoral studies or imparted the climate of their institution to increase diversity.

The awards both include a monetary prize of US$5,000 and complimentary registration and reimbursement of hotel and travel expenses to attend the AAAS annual meeting.

UIC INNOVATION AWARDS 2014
Union Internationale des Chemins de Fer – International Union of Railways

Description:
The International Union of Railways invites nominations for its innovation awards 2014. These aim to support the development of rail transport and the necessary innovations and step-changes within the field. The awards cover the following categories: safety and security, sustainable development, rail system technology, rail freight services, passenger services, and cost reduction.

The call for applications is open to any individual or teams of a maximum of five people representing one organisation or company or a consortium of several organisations or companies having interest in rail research and innovation. The innovation should have already been demonstrated, tested and proven beneficial in actual service, making a significant contribution to the development of the rail sector and clearly enhance the efficiency, effectiveness and quality of rail transport. Further, submitted innovations should not have been implemented on the market for more than two years.

A prize of €5,000 will be given to each winner or winning team of the different awards categories.

FRANCIS M PIPKIN AWARD
American Physical Society

Description:
The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Francis M Pipkin award. The purpose of this award is to honour exceptional research accomplishments by a young scientist in the interdisciplinary area of precision measurement and fundamental constants and to encourage the wide dissemination of the results of that research. The award is given biennially every odd-number year and consists of US$2,000 plus support of travel expenses to the APS meeting at which the award is conferred.

Scientists who have held the PhD degree for not more than 15 years prior to the nomination deadline are eligible for the award. The award recipient will be selected on the basis of outstanding work in the area of precision measurement and fundamental constants, as represented by his or her publications and three nominating letters. Any APS member, not a member of the award selection committee, may submit a nomination.

ELECTRONICS AND PHOTONICS DIVISION AWARD
Electrochemical Society

Description:
The Electrochemical Society invites nominations for the electronics and photonics division award. The purpose of the award is to encourage excellence in electronics research and outstanding technical contribution to the field of electronics science. For the purpose of this award, electronics science is defined as that area of knowledge which encompasses the physics, chemistry and metallurgy of electronic materials and devices.

Only currently active members of the society are eligible for the award, which carries a US$1,500 cash prize. In addition, a maximum of US$1,000 can be granted for expenses incurred to receive the award.

Closing date: 01 Aug 14 (Forecast)

COLLABORATIVE RESEARCH GRANTS
American Academy of Religion

Description:
The American Academy of Religion invites applications for its collaborative research grants. These aim to encourage cooperative research among scholars with a focus on a clearly identified research project. Grants may also be used for interdisciplinary work with scholars outside the field of religion.

The applicant must hold a PhD and must not have received an AAR research award in the past five years. Groups must apply through an AAR member designated as the project director who must have been a member of the society for at least three years.

Awards are worth between US$500 and US$5,000 each and can provide funding for networking and communication, or small research conferences if these are designed primarily to advance research.

Closing date: 01 Aug 14
Deadline information: Online submission is open between 1 May and 1 August, annually.

FULBRIGHT NEW ZEALAND GENERAL GRADUATE AWARDS
Fulbright New Zealand

Description:
Fulbright New Zealand invites applications for the Fulbright general graduate awards. These support promising New Zealand graduate students to undertake study or research in the US.

Applications are welcomed from graduate students in any field of study not covered by other Fulbright graduate awards. These include business, growth and innovation in New Zealand, natural disaster research and indigenous development. Medical studies are ineligible.

Applicants must be New Zealand citizens and must not be citizens of the US or currently living in the US. They must have at least a four-year degree at tertiary level, but not yet hold a doctoral degree, and they must plan to undertake full-time postgraduate study or research for at least six months.

Awards include return airfare, health and accident insurance, and a one-off payment of US$25,000, reduced to US$15,000 for visits of less than nine months’ duration. Approximately eight awards, worth up to US$33,000, will be made annually.

DIELECTRIC SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY DIVISION THOMAS D CALLINAN AWARD

Description:
The Electrochemical Society invites nominations for the Thomas D Callinan award of the dielectric science and technology division. The purpose of this award is to promote interest and activity in the field of dielectric science and technology among scientists in their early careers. The granting of the award is based upon some outstanding achievement in dielectric science and technology. The award will be given to the author of a paper, or patent, reporting this new advance in dielectrics. For the purpose of the award, dielectric science and technology is defined as that area of knowledge which deals with the physics and chemistry of dielectric materials, as well as the mechanisms and operation of devices in which electrical energy can be stored or insulated in electrical or electromagnetic fields.

HA/ASH TRANSITIONAL RESEARCH TRAINING IN HAEMATOLOGY

European Hematology Association

Description:
The European Hematology Association and the American Society of Hematology invite applications for their call for translational research training in hematology. This enables 20 early-career scientists to participate in a rigorous yearlong education and mentoring programme to prepare them for highly productive careers in hematologic translational research.

Applicants must meet the following eligibility criteria:
• must be an MD or PhD and within 12 years of MD-graduation;
• PhD applicants must have less than eight years of post-doc experience after graduation;
• must be actively employed in a hematology related research environment;
• both the applicants and the applicants’ mentors must be members of EHA or ASH at the time of application;
• show proficiency in English.

Movement between institutions and countries is encouraged.

Travel costs up to €1000 per meeting, and accommodation for both the spring course and the follow-up meetings are arranged and covered by EHA and ASH. EHA and ASH will also cover food costs during the spring course.

SCIENCE & SCILIFELAB PRIZE FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS
American Association for the Advancement of Science

Description:
Science/AAAS and SciLifeLab invite applications for the science &SciLifeLab prize for young scientists. This recognises one young scientist for outstanding life science research.

Eligible entrants must have been awarded their Ph.D. in the previous year and the topic of their thesis research must be in one of the following categories:

- cell and developmental biology;
- genomics and proteomics;
- environment;
- translational medicine.

The prize will only recognise work that was performed while the applicant was a graduate student and will be awarded without regard to sex, race, or nationality.

The grand prize winner will receive $25,000 and the winning essay will be published in Science magazine. Each of the category winners will receive $3,000 and their essays will be published online.

EN SOCIETY FELLOWSHIP
Open Society Foundations

Description:
The Open Society Foundations invite applications for their fellowship. This supports individuals seeking innovative and unconventional approaches to enrich public understanding of fundamental open society challenges.

Projects should enrich public understanding of such challenges and stimulate far-reaching and probing conversations with the Open Society Foundations and in the world. Project themes should cut across the foundations’ areas of interest, which include human rights, government transparency, access to information and to justice, the promotion of civil society and social inclusion. It is anticipated that most fellows will spend a portion of their fellowship term at one of the organisation’s main offices in New York, Washington, London, Brussels or Budapest, or at a regional foundation.

Proposals are accepted from individuals in a variety of fields from anywhere in the world. Proficiency in spoken English is required.

The fellowship usually lasts for one year although shorter and longer terms may be considered. Full-time fellows will receive a stipend of US$80,000 or US$100,000 and a project budget for travel expenses, visa costs, part-time research assistance, conference fees and health insurance.

EPILEPSY RESEARCH RECOGNITION AWARDS
International League against Epilepsy

Description:
The American Epilepsy Society invites nominations for its epilepsy research recognition awards. The aim is to encourage and reward clinical and basic science investigators whose research contributes importantly to understanding and conquering epilepsy. These awards will be made to active scientists and clinicians. The programme is open to investigators working in all aspects of epilepsy.

Any individual holding a professional degree and whose research impacts on any aspect of epilepsy is eligible. There is no geographic restriction. Nominations of women and members of minority groups are especially encouraged. Preference is given to AES members. Two awards, worth US$10,000 each, are available.

MENTOR-BASED POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME IN REHABILITATION RESEARCH
National Multiple Sclerosis Society

Description:
The National Multiple Sclerosis Society invites applications for its mentor-based postdoctoral fellowship programme in rehabilitation research. This supports mentor-institution combinations responsible for the recruitment, selection and training of postdoctoral fellows who aim to pursue a career in rehabilitation research applied to multiple sclerosis and similar disorders. The training may focus on fundamental as well as applied studies. There are no restrictions on the nationalities of either fellows or mentors. Mentors and institutions outside of the US may apply but are requested to submit dual applications to governmental granting agencies or non-profit funding agencies in their own country.

Mentors must hold a faculty appointment at an accredited institution and have adequate research funding and support to provide an appropriate training environment for the postdoctoral fellow. Fellows may have up to 36 months of previous postdoctoral training and must hold, or be candidates for, a PhD, MD or equivalent degree.

Funding is awarded to the mentor-institution combination that administers the funds over a five-year award period. The award may be used to support a given postdoctoral fellow for up to three years, with an annual salary of up to US$57,361 plus up to 25 per cent for fringe benefits, relocation costs and a travel allowance of up to US$2,500 per year. In addition, up to US$10,000 per year may be awarded to help the host institution to defray training and supervision costs.

DOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS
Leibniz-Institut für Europäische Geschichte Mainz - Leibniz-Institute of European History

Description:
The Leibniz-Institute of European History invites applications for its doctoral fellowships. These enable doctoral students from any national background to pursue research on the historical foundations of Europe from the early modern period to contemporary history, particularly their religious, political and social dimensions. Projects dealing with European communication and transfer processes as well as projects focusing on questions related to theology, church history and intellectual history, are particularly welcome. The fellows are invited to work together with the academic staff in the research units of the IEG. Researchers live and work in the institute’s building in Mainz but may carry out short trips to archives, libraries and conferences. The IEG’s library holdings address European social, political, religious, theological and church history.

Fellows must have a sufficient command of German. Furthermore, applicants must have a first degree in history, theology or any other historical subject and they should not have pursued their PhD work for more than three years when taking up the fellowship. Funding amounts to €1,200 per month for a period of six to 12 months.

SWEDISH STEEL PRIZE

SSAB

Description:
SSAB invites nominations for the Swedish steel prize.

This is an annual international prize, worth SEK100,000, which can be awarded to any company, institution, organisation or individual for a product in which high-strength structural steel, wear plate or tool steel has contributed to an innovative design with clear benefits.

This may relate, for example, to new design features, lighter products, simplified production, longer life time, improved performance and beneficial environmental effects.

The materials used must be within the range of materials made by SSAB but need not necessarily be produced by SSAB. The prize also covers methods and tools, which simplifies the use of such steels or could contribute towards expanded use of these steels.

There are no time limits within which the product or method must be evolved or developed.

Closing date: 15 Aug 14

Deadline information: This call is repeated once a year.

MASTER’S FELLOWSHIP IN PUBLIC HEALTH AND TROPICAL MEDICINE

Wellcome Trust

Description:
The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its master’s fellowships in public health and tropical medicine. These strengthen scientific research capacity in low and middle-income countries by enabling junior researchers to gain research experience and research training at master’s degree level.
Research should be aimed at understanding and improving public health and tropical medicine of local, national and global relevance. This may include laboratory-based molecular analysis of field or clinical samples, but projects focused solely on studies in vitro or using animal models will not normally be considered. Social sciences, demography, health economics, medical statistics and vector biology are of a particular interest.

The fellowship normally provides up to 30 months' support and has two stages:

- master’s training at a recognised centre of excellence in any location, generally for a period of 12 months, with support provided for the cost of living in the country, travel costs and tuition fees;
- undertaking a research project at a non-profit institution in a low or middle-income country for up to 18 months, with funding available for salary, research expenses, overseas allowances and overseas costs.

Applicants should be nationals or legal residents of a low or middle-income country and hold a first degree in a relevant subject. They should be at an early stage of their career with limited research experience.

Closing date: 15 Aug 14
Deadline information: Applications due by 5pm.

EARLY CAREER PATIENT-ORIENTED DIABETES RESEARCH AWARD

Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation International

Description:
The Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation International, in partnership with the Danish Diabetes Academy, invites proposals for its career development awards. These support investigators who are in the later stages of training and who plan to pursue a career in diabetes-related clinical investigation. Relevant research areas include mechanisms of human disease, therapeutic interventions, clinical trials and the development of new technologies.

Scientific collaboration with scientific members of the DDA is required. Awardees will be designated as members of the academy faculty and participate in academy projects that provide training in diabetes for young investigators.

Applications may be submitted by public or private, non-profit or for-profit organisations throughout the world. Applicants must have an MD or MD-PhD, hold an appointment or joint appointment in a subspecialty of clinical medicine, and conduct human clinical research. There are no citizenship requirements.

Awards support periods of up to five years and are worth up to US$150,000 per year, including indirect costs.

TWAS-ICCBS POSTGRADUATE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME
TWAS

Description:
The World Academy of Sciences and the International Centre for Chemical and Biological Sciences invite applications for the TWAS-ICCBS postgraduate fellowship programme. This enables young scientists from developing countries other than Pakistan to pursue research leading to a PhD in the chemical and biological sciences. Fellowships are tenable at the ICCBS, which comprises the HEJ Research Institute of Chemistry and the DrPanjwani Centre for Molecular and Drug Research, and support studies in the following fields:
- organic chemistry;
- biochemistry;
- biotechnology;
- molecular medicine;
- pharmacology;
- physical chemistry.

Sandwich fellowships, for those registered for a PhD in their home country, are tenable for a minimum of six months. Full-time fellowships, for those willing to register for a PhD in Pakistan, are tenable for a maximum of four years. Applications are open to developing-country nationals other than Pakistani nationals who are no more than 35 years of age on 31 December of the year of application. Women scientists are especially encouraged to apply. Applicants must not hold a visa for temporary or permanent residency in Pakistan or any developed country. Applicants should hold a master’s degree in a field of the natural sciences and provide evidence of proficiency in English. Fellowships include one return journey to Pakistan and a monthly stipend to cover living costs, such as food, accommodation, local transportation and incidental illness. If awarded, applicants must sit a compulsory entrance examination in the first quarter of the year prior to starting their fellowship.

WANJIRU KIHORO FELLOWSHIP
Femmes Africa Solidarité

Description:
Femmes Africa Solidarité invites applications for the WanjiruKihoro fellowship. The fellowship provides the opportunity for a young African to gain international experience in the fields of gender, peace and development, including insight into an international NGO's activities. Successful applicants will be given the opportunity to work for a period of nine months at FAS' International Secretariat in Geneva, Switzerland, before returning to put their skills into action through an additional three-month placement with an NGO in Africa. Applicants should have a degree or be currently undertaking studies in a field relevant to the work of FAS such as international relations, development studies or gender studies. Individuals who have already gained some work experience in civil society organisations in Africa, especially from war-torn countries, may also apply. Eligible candidates must be residing in Africa and be under 30 years old. Women are especially encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to those working for an NGO. Applicants must be fluent in either French or English with a working knowledge of the other language.

The fellowship is fully funded and will provide roundtrip airfare to Geneva, housing and living costs.

IR ROBERT MENZIES MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS IN LAW AND INTERNATIONAL LAW
Sir Robert Menzies Memorial Foundation

Description:
The Sir Robert Menzies Memorial Foundation invites applications for its postgraduate scholarships in law and international law. These enable Australian postgraduate students to undertake a programme of study in law.

There are two scholarships available:

- Sir Ninian Stephen Menzies scholarship in international law for courses of study in international law at a prestigious international university, especially at a university in Asia.

Applicants may be considered for either or both scholarships. Candidates must be Australian citizens and they must have been resident in Australia for at least five of the last ten last years. An academic record in law that is at least the equivalent of an upper second class honours degree, normally from an Australian university, is also required.

Awards may include emoluments to meet compulsory university fees, tuition fees or a research grant equivalent, AU$200 towards the typing and binding of a thesis, return economy airfare to the country of study, and a personal living allowance worth £12,750 per year in the UK or £14,750 per year if enrolled at a London university. Allowances for scholars at other international universities will be determined on a case-by-case basis.
Awards will generally be tenable for one academic year only, although longer periods may be considered in exceptional cases.

Description:
The World Academy of Sciences and the COMSATS Institute of Information and Technology invite applications for the TWAS-CIIT postdoctoral fellowship programme. These fellowships enable young scientists from developing countries other than Pakistan to pursue postdoctoral research in the natural sciences. Fellowships are tenable for a minimum of six and a maximum of 12 months at the departments and laboratories of the CIIT.

Candidates must apply for the fellowships within five years of having obtained a PhD in the natural sciences, be nationals of a developing country other than Pakistan, be regularly employed in a developing country other than Pakistan and hold a research assignment there, be officially accepted by CIIT, and be proficient in English. Women scientists are especially encouraged to apply. Fellowships include a monthly stipend which covers living costs such as accommodation, food and health insurance. International travel costs and visa expenses will also be covered.

Closing date: 31 Aug 14
Deadline information: The call will be open from March or April until 31 August 2014. This call is repeated once a year.
Posted date: 03 Oct 13
Award type: Postdoctoral training fellowships, Early-Career fellowships, Travel for research purposes, Young investigator awards, Access to laboratories, telescopes etc.

CATASTROPHES AND CONFLICT FORUM MEDICAL STUDENT ESSAY PRIZE

Royal Society of Medicine

Description:
The Royal Society of Medicine invites submissions for its catastrophes and conflict forum medical student essay prize competition. This awards essays addressing the subject of catastrophes and conflict.

Candidates may select from the titles below or choose their own:
- catastrophes and conflicts - are they likely to increase due to climate change;
• is humanitarian intervention a positive tool that should be used more often in times of armed conflict;
• is there clear evidence that rebuilding the health sector of fragile states contributes to stability of those states;
• are the effects of natural disasters on civil society well understood and do not warrant further research?

Applicants should be full-time students enrolled at a medical school.

The prize is worth £250.

DEVELOPING WORLD SCHOLARSHIPS
Royal Society of Chemistry

Description:
The Royal Society of Chemistry, through its analytical chemistry trust fund, invites applications for its developing world scholarships. The purpose of this scheme is to assist citizens of developing world countries to visit the UK or Ireland to acquire new analytical science knowledge, or experience of analytical science teaching, learning or training methods, which would be applied on return to their home country. The emphasis is on achieving a practical and beneficial impact in the scholar’s home country, rather than on purely academic research.

Applicants should be citizens of a developing world country as defined by the World Bank economic criteria, employed in industry, academia or the public service.

The total value of the scholarship will not normally exceed £5,000, for a maximum period of three months.

Closing date: 15 Sep 14

NEW SCHOLARS GRANTS
Bibliographical Society of America

Description:
The Bibliographical Society of America invites applications for its new scholars grants. These enable early-career scholars to attend the annual society meeting, and to present a paper on their current, unpublished research in the field of bibliography. The aim is to promote work of scholars who are new to the field of bibliography, broadly defined to include any research that deals with the creation, production, publication, distribution, reception, transmission and subsequent history of texts as material objects.

Junior faculty and graduate students at the dissertation level are eligible, as are professional librarians, members of the book trade and book collectors who are at the beginning of their careers.

Scholars will receive US$600 towards attendance and a complimentary one-year membership of the society. The presented papers will be published in the December issue of the Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America.

ZB/ISSC GLOBAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME
Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung – Social Science Research Center Berlin

Description:
The Social Science Research Center Berlin (WZB) and the International Social Science Council invite applications for their global fellowship programme. This enables one early-career scientist residing and working in a developing country to conduct research for up to six months at the WZB in Berlin, Germany. The research project of the fellow should focus on global societal problems with particular relevance to developing country contexts. Moreover, it should be linked to both research conducted at the WZB and to the topic of the ISSC’s World Social Science Forum 2015: transforming global relations for a just world.

While at the centre, the fellow may focus entirely on a dedicated research project and is invited to participate in the intellectual life at the WZB. They are required to:
• conduct a public lecture or an academic seminar;
• write a report outlining a vision of their research field with relevance to developing countries in the next five to 10 years;
• write or contribute to a paper for the World Social Science Forum 2015, to take place from 13 to 16 September 2015 in Durban, South Africa.

Application is open to postdoctoral researchers with no more than five years' work experience after their PhD, or scientists without a PhD but with an equivalent level of research experience and output.

The WZB offers a grant for up to six months at a level commensurate with a German postdoctoral researcher, as well as a contribution to local accommodation up to €500 per month. Economy travel costs to and from Berlin will be reimbursed. The centre also offers a workplace as well as full library privileges and additional technical services. The fellow will also receive support to participate in the World Social Science Forum 2015.

AAS SCIENTIFIC FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY AWARD
American Association for the Advancement of Science

Description:
The American Association for the Advancement of Science invites nominations for its scientific freedom and responsibility award. This award is presented annually to honour scientists and engineers whose exemplary actions have served to foster scientific freedom and responsibility.

The award recognises scientists and engineers who have:
- acted to protect the public's health, safety, or welfare;
- focused public attention on important potential impacts of science and technology on society by their responsible participation in public policy debates;
- established important new precedents in carrying out the social responsibilities or in defending the professional freedom of scientists and engineers.

Nominations are open to all regardless of nationality or citizenship. The award includes a cash prize of US$5,000 and reimbursement for travel and hotel expenses to attend the AAAS annual meeting.

Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership

Description:
The Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership invites applications under the Abe fellowship program. The fellowship aims to encourage international multidisciplinary research on topics of pressing global concern. The program seeks to foster the development of a new generation of researchers who are interested in policy-relevant topics of long-range importance.

Applications are accepted from scholars and non-academic research professionals in the social sciences and related disciplines to conduct research in the following subject areas: traditional and non-traditional approaches to security and diplomacy; global and regional economic issues; and the role of civil society. Citizens of the US and Japan as well as to nationals of other countries who can demonstrate strong and serious long-term affiliations with research communities in Japan or the United States are eligible. Applicants must hold a PhD or the terminal degree in their field, or have attained an equivalent level of professional experience.

The Resource Management Law Association invites applications for its master’s scholarships. These encourage graduate students from disciplines such as law, planning, engineering, geography, science, landscape architecture, urban planning and resource management to focus their research theses or dissertations on topics related to the application of resource management in New Zealand.

The scholarship is open to any graduate student in New Zealand or overseas registered for a master’s degree. Preference is given to applicants with an established record of independent research by dissertation, directed study or research paper at honours or master’s level. Each applicant must be a New Zealand citizen or permanent resident and have an academic record of B+ or better.

One or more scholarships may be awarded out of an annual fund of NZ$15,000. Typically three NZ$5,000 awards are made per year. Scholarships are tenable for one year only.

BERTEBOS PRIZE
KungligaSkogs- ochLantbruksakademien - Royal Swedish Academy of Agriculture and Forestry

Description:
The Royal Swedish Academy of Agriculture and Forestry invites nominations for the Bertebos prize. The prize winner should have carried out research of distinguished quality and practical use within the areas of food, agriculture, ecology or animal health. This year the prize is awarded to a candidate leading prominent research on the competition over scarce land resources, in particular focusing on conflicts between securing fertile agriculture land and using this land for infrastructure and often creating irreversible ecological change. It related to issues of food security, land ownership, effective use of land and natural resources, equity and fairness between people, and how resources could best be governed. The prize consists of SEK300,000 and a diploma.

LONG-TERM INVITATION FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME FOR RESEARCH IN JAPAN
Japan Society for the Promotion of Science

Description:
The Japan Society for the Promotion of Science invites applications for its long-term invitation fellowship program for research in Japan. These allow researchers employed at Japanese research institutions to invite fellow researchers from other countries to Japan to participate in cooperative activities at their research institutions. All fields of the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences are included under this programme.

Invited researchers must be university professors, associate or assistant professors, research associates or of equivalent status. Other researchers may be eligible if they have held a doctoral degree for a period of more than six years. They must be citizens of a country that has diplomatic relations with Japan. If the candidate is of Japanese nationality, they must have lived abroad and been activity engaged in research for a period of over 10 years.

Applications must be submitted to JSPS by a host scientist in Japan through the head of their university or institution or by an overseas nominating authority. Foreign scientists wishing to participate in this programme are advised to establish contact with a Japanese researcher in their field and to ask them to submit an application.

Fellowships last two to 10 months and include a round-trip air ticket, a monthly maintenance allowance of ¥369,000, a domestic research travel allowance of ¥100,000, research expenses of ¥40,000 and an overseas travel accident and sickness insurance coverage. The host will receive a cooperation allowance of ¥50,000.

Closing date: 06 Sep 14 (Forecast)
Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. Applications must be submitted by the Japanese host. This call is repeated once a year.

Clinical Research Training Fellowships
Medical Research Council

Description:
The Medical Research Council invites applications for its clinical research training fellowships. These provide support for clinically qualified, active professionals to undertake specialised or further research training in the biomedical sciences within the UK. The scheme is designed to accommodate the dual clinical-research training career path by allowing fellows to spend up to 20 per cent of their time on NHS sessions.

Fellows are required to register for a research degree, normally a PhD, based on research undertaken during the fellowship. Fellowships are awarded at the clinical pre-doctoral or entry level, although medically qualified applicants who obtained their PhD some time ago may also exceptionally be considered. Medical and dental graduate applicants should be at specialty registrar grade or below. Nurses, midwives and members of the allied health professions must have completed their professional training and hold a masters degree, or equivalent postgraduate research-oriented qualification.

Fellowships are for a period of two to three years, or four years for patient-oriented clinical research. At the pre-doctoral level, the fellowship provides salary up to but not including NHS consultant level, and a research training support grant of up to £15,000 per year. At the postdoctoral level, the fellowship covers salary up to but not including NHS consultant level, research expenses and travel costs under full economic costs.

Closing date: 06 Sep 14
Deadline information: Applications accepted between 29 July and 6 September 2014, and 15 November 2014 and 14 January 2015.

TEAM SCIENCE AWARD
American Association for Cancer Research

Description:
The American Association for Cancer Research and Eli Lilly and Company invite applications for their team science award. This recognises either an interdisciplinary research team for innovative science that has advanced, or likely will advance, fundamental knowledge of cancer, or a team that has applied existing knowledge to advance the detection, diagnosis, prevention or treatment of cancer.

Candidacy is open to all cancer researchers who are affiliated with any institution involved in cancer research, cancer medicine or cancer-related biomedical science anywhere in the world. Nominations may be made by any scientist.

The award includes a cash prize of US$50,000, which will be awarded during the AACR annual meeting, taking place between 5 and 9 April 2014 in San Diego.
Closing date: 06 Sep 14 (Forecast)

INDUSTRIAL PHD PROGRAMME
Styrelsen for Forskning og Innovation – Danish Agency for Science, Technology and Innovation

Description:
The Danish Agency for Science, Technology and Innovation invites applications for its industrial PhD programme. An industrial PhD project is a three-year industrially focused project where the student is hired by a company and enrolled at a university at the same time.

Candidates for the Industrial PhD must hold a master’s degree or similar. Applicants with foreign degrees are required to have attained the same academic level as corresponding applicants with Danish degrees.

The host must be a university or institution of higher education in Denmark or abroad. Foreign universities must be officially authorised in the country in question to conduct PhD programmes. If the education is conducted at a non-Danish university, a Danish university must be attached to the project as a third-party. The student is required to be employed in the Danish division of a company although stays of up to six months in a non-Danish division of the company is allowed. The PhD student works full time on the project and divides his or her time equally between the company and the university.

The company receives a monthly wage of DKK14,500 while the university receives DKK252,000 or DKK360,000 depending on the type of the project. There are additional subsidies for courses, conferences and stays at non-Danish universities.

Closing date: 08 Sep 14

PHD FELLOWSHIPS
Novo Nordisk

Description:
Novo Nordisk invites applications for its PhD fellowships. Projects must be related to Novo Nordisk’s research and development areas and will be jointly defined by the university and Novo Nordisk. The scheme offers funding for fellows associated with the industrial PhD programme as well as fellows associated with PhD schools at Danish universities.

Applicants from non-Danish universities must hold a master’s degree with a grade point average belonging to the top 20 per cent at the university where the master’s degree was awarded. Danish applicants must satisfy the marks criteria for the Danish industrial PhD programme.

Applications can only be submitted by a Novo Nordisk scientist.

RESEARCH IN DENTAL CARIES AWARD
International Association for Dental Research

Description:
The International Association for Dental Research invites nominations for its research in dental caries award. This award is part of the association's distinguished scientist awards programme which honours IADR members. This award recognises outstanding and innovative achievements that have contributed to the basic understanding of caries etiology or to the prevention of dental caries.

Evidence must be presented that the nominee has conducted original and important investigations in any of the biological or chemical disciplines involved in caries research. Clinical investigations may also be considered if they have contributed significantly to the prevention and control of dental caries.

At the time of nomination, the nominee must be a IADR member and be actively engaged in the area of research for which the award is presented. Work considered for the award should be fully tested and accepted by the scientific community and must have been published not fewer than ten years prior to the time of the nomination.

The award consists of a US$3,500 cash prize.

BEHAVIOURAL, EPIDEMIOLOGIC AND HEALTH SERVICES RESEARCH AWARD
International Association for Dental Research

Description:
The International Association for Dental Research invites nominations for its behavioural, epidemiologic and health services research award. This award is part of the association’s distinguished scientist awards programme which honours IADR members. This award recognises outstanding achievements in the areas of behavioural science and health services research as they relate to dentistry. Evidence must be presented that the nominee has conducted original investigations related to dentistry in any of the disciplines involved with behavioural science or health service research.

Only IADR members may be nominated.

The award consists of a US$3,500 cash prize.

Closing date: 09 Sep 14 (Forecast)
Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. Online nomination submission opens June 2013. This call is repeated once a year.

HARMACOLOGY, THERAPEUTICS AND TOXICOLOGY RESEARCH AWARD
International Association for Dental Research

Description:
The International Association for Dental Research invites nominations for its pharmacology, therapeutics and toxicology research award. This award is part of the association's distinguished scientist awards programme which honours IADR members.

The award recognises contributions to the understanding of the mechanisms; efficacy and safety of drugs used to treat dental disease and associated symptoms such as pain and peri-operative apprehension. In practice, this encompasses basic and clinical pharmacology studies of analgesics, anaesthetics, sedatives, fluorides and other drug classes used by dentists.

The award is made for outstanding and sustained peer-reviewed research that has contributed to our knowledge of the mechanisms, efficacy or safety of drugs used in dentistry.

Only IADR members may be nominated.

The award consists of a US$3,500 cash prize.

WA ME NK RUMAH CONTINENTAL SCIENTIFIC AWARD

African Union

Description:
The African Union invites applications for its continental scientific award under the Kwame Nkrumah scientific awards programme. The objectives of this award are as follows:

- to award and honour outstanding African scientists for their scientific achievements and discoveries;
- to promote scientific development in Africa through recognition of excellence among African scientists and younger researchers and encourage them to persevere in their research or academic careers and nurture their ambitions;
- to popularise and promote public understanding and participation in the implementation of Africa's Science and Technology Consolidated Plan of Action (CPA) and AU Assembly decisions on science and technology;
- to raise the profile of the science and technology sector in African Union Member States, regional economic communities and similar so that science contributes to Africa's sustainable development, poverty alleviation and integration efforts.

Only nationals of African Union member states are eligible to participate in this award. Applicants should have at least 20 SCI publications.

The AU will offer two continental scientific awards, one in the life and earth sciences sector and one in the basic science, technology and innovation sector.

EARLY-CAREER AWARDS
Thrasher Research Fund

Description:
The Thrasher Research Fund invites concept notes for its early-career awards. These are aimed at young investigators who may find it difficult to remain in paediatric research because of a lack of funding. The fund is open to a variety of topics important to children’s health. Both incidence and severity are considered when determining the significance of a problem being studied.

Eligible candidates for funding are: physicians who are in a residency or fellowship training programme, or who completed that programme no more than one year before the date of submission of the concept paper; postdoctoral researchers who received their doctoral degree no more than three years prior to the date of submission of the concept paper.

New investigators who hold a National Institutes of Health K award or a Clinical and Translational Science Award are not eligible to apply. Each project needs to be under the guidance of a mentor. A mentor may have only one awardee at a time. There are no restrictions with regard to citizenship.

Up to 15 grants will be awarded worth up to US$25,000 in direct costs. Up to US$12,500 of the proposed budget may be used for salary costs. The rest of the budget should be used for research supplies and other research-related expenses. The cost of attending one conference of up to US$2,000 is also allowed. The project may last up to two years.

Closing date: 12 Sep 14

Deadline information: For the spring cycle, concept notes are due by noon, MST on 7 March and proposals by noon, MST on 18 April; for the fall cycle, concept notes are due by noon, MST on 12 September and proposals by noon, MST on 24 October 2014. Deadlines on: 7 March 2014, 12 September 2014.

NEW RESEARCH WORKERS’ AWARDS

Quaternary Research Association

Description:
The Quaternary Research Association invites applications for its new research workers’ awards. These are aimed at younger researchers studying for higher degrees in quaternary science and typically support such activities as field expeditions, geological surveys, coring activities, laboratory visits, purchase of field equipment and laboratory analyses.

Postgraduates who have been members of the association for at least six months are eligible to apply. Applicants must not hold a doctoral degree or tenured academic position. Preference will be given to those who have no source of fieldwork funding or whose access to such funds is limited.

Awards are normally worth up to £1,000.

ULIUS AXELROD AWARD IN PHARMACOLOGY
American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics

Description:
The American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics invites nominations for the Julius Axelrod award in pharmacology. This recognises significant contributions to understanding the biochemical mechanisms underlying the pharmacological actions of drugs and for contributions for mentoring other pharmacologists. The award shall be made on the basis of originality and uniqueness of accomplishments throughout a long career.

There are no restrictions on the nominees of the award. Nominations must, however, be made by members of the society or the Catecholamine Club. No member may nominate more than one candidate per year.
The award includes an honorarium of US$2,500, a medal and travel support for the winner and spouse to the annual meeting. The winner will be invited to deliver a lecture and organise a symposium at the annual meeting a year hence. An additional invitation to give a less formal presentation at the Catecholamine Club’s annual dinner meeting will also be presented.

INSTITUTIONAL GRANTS
Tinker Foundation

Description:
The Tinker Foundation invites applications for its institutional grants. These are for charitable organisations to undertake research with a goal of creating effective policy changes to improve the lives of Latin Americans. The foundation has identified five programme areas in which focused, expert research and innovation can make significant positive impact, and the proposal should address one of these areas of interest:

- democratic governance;
- education;
- sustainable resource management;
- US policy toward Latin America;
- Antarctica science and policy.

The organisational entity needs to hold a 501(c)3 charitable status or its equivalent if based outside the United States. Projects should have a strong public policy component, offer innovative solutions to problems facing these regions, and incorporate new mechanisms for addressing these programmatic areas. Collaboration between organisations in the United States and Latin America is encouraged, and funding preference is given to those institutions actively engaged with external stakeholders in addressing an issue of concern.

Closing date: 15 Sep 14
Deadline information: Letters of inquiry should be sent well in advance of the deadline. Deadlines on: 15 September 2014, 1 March 2015, and repeated annually.

RESEARCH CAREER ENHANCEMENT AWARDS
American Physiological Society

Description:
The American Physiological Society invites applications for its research career enhancement awards. These awards are designed to enhance the career potential of APS regular members.

The award can be used to support short-term visits to other laboratories to acquire new specific skills and to support attendance at special courses devoted primarily to methodologies appropriate for both a new investigator and a more senior investigator entering a new field of research.

Awards are worth up to US$4,000.

LIBRARY AND INFORMATION SCIENCE RESEARCH GRANTS
Online Computer Library Center

Description:
The Online Computer Library Center, Incorporated and OCLC Research, in collaboration with the Association for Library and Information Science Education, invites applications for its library and information science research grants. These support independent research that helps integrate new technologies offering innovative approaches and contributing to a better understanding of the information environment and user expectations and behaviours. Research related to the following areas is encouraged:

- impact of digital technology on libraries, museums and archives;
- social media, learning, and information-seeking behaviour;
- new developments in knowledge organisation.

Grants are worth up to US$15,000 and are open to full-time academic faculty in schools of library and information science. International proposals and collaborative projects are encouraged. Priority will be given to junior faculty and applicants who have not previously received LISRGP funds.

NEW RESEARCH WORKERS’ AWARDS
Quaternary Research Association

Description:
The Quaternary Research Association invites applications for its new research workers’ awards. These are aimed at younger researchers studying for higher degrees in quaternary science and typically support such activities as field expeditions, geological surveys, coring activities, laboratory visits, purchase of field equipment and laboratory analyses.

Postgraduates who have been members of the association for at least six months are eligible to apply. Applicants must not hold a doctoral degree or tenured academic position. Preference will be given to those who have no source of fieldwork funding or whose access to such funds is limited.

Awards are normally worth up to £1,000.

WAS-ICIPE POSTGRADUATE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME

Description:
The Academy of Sciences for the Developing World and the International Centre of Insect Physiology in Nairobi, Kenya invite applications to the TWAS-icipe postgraduate fellowship programme. This enables young scientists from developing countries other than Kenya to undertake PhD studies in Kenya. The fellowship supports research in the natural sciences, with a focus on integrated control methodologies for crop and livestock insect pests and other related arthropods, and insect vectors of tropical diseases.

Developing-country nationals, other than Kenya, are welcome to apply. Applicants must hold a master’s degree in the natural sciences and must be registered for a PhD in their home country or be accepted onto a PhD programme at icipe, in which case evidence of this acceptance must be provided. Applicants must provide evidence that they will return to their home country on completion of the fellowship. For full-time fellowships candidates must be a maximum of between 35 and 40 years of age by 31 December in the year of application. There is no age limit for sandwich fellowships.
The fellowship provides a standard monthly allowance, which may be used to cover living costs such as accommodation, subsistence and health insurance.

Sandwich fellowships, for PhD candidates registered in a developing country outside Kenya, may last for six months to 12 months. Full-time fellowships may be granted for up to three years.

Closing date: 15 Sep 14

TWAS-NCP FELLOWSHIPS FOR VISITING SCHOLARS IN PAKISTAN

TWAS

Description:
The World Academy of Sciences and the National Centre for Physics, invite applications for the TWAS-NCP fellowships for visiting scholars in Pakistan. These fellowships enable scientists from developing countries other than Pakistan to pursue advanced research in the natural sciences. Fellowships are tenable in the following fields of physics:

- plasma physics;
- high energy physics;
- quantum information;
- applications of ion beam techniques using tandem accelerator;
- earthquake studies;
- atomic physics and spectroscopy;
- laser induced breakdown spectroscopy;
- modelling;
- simulation and computing;
- astrophysics and cosmology;
- nano sciences;
- vacuum science and technology.

Nationals of developing countries other than Pakistan who are no more than 55 years of age on 31 December of the application year, may apply. Applicants must not hold a visa for temporary or permanent residency in Pakistan or any developed country. Applicants should hold a PhD in the natural sciences with at least five years of postdoctoral research experience, and be engaged in a regular research assignment. Proficiency in English is a requirement for this programme.

Fellowships are tenable for one up to three months and include a standard monthly allowance to cover living costs, such as accommodation, food and health insurance.

Closing date: 15 Sep 14
Deadline information: Applications due between 12 March and 15 September annually. This call is repeated once a year.

MEDWIN PRIZE IN ACOUSTICAL OCEANOGRAPHY
Acoustical Society of America

Description:
The Acoustical Society of America invites applications and nominations for its Medwin prize in acoustical oceanography. This prize will honor continuing research accomplishments of young and mid-career scientists in acoustical oceanography. Consideration will be given to individuals whose work demonstrates the candidate’s effective use of sound in the discovery and understanding of physical and biological parameters and processes in the sea. For the purposes of this prize, research based solely on computer models will not be accepted as a substitute for ocean experiments or effective, small-scale laboratory models and experiments. A prize of $2,000 will be awarded to the successful candidate, who must be under the age of 46 on January 1, 2014. The applicant or nominee need not be a member of the ASA.

FREESTANDING POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS
South African National Research Foundation

Description:
The National Research Foundation invites applications for its freestanding postdoctoral fellowships. The programme supports qualified postdoctoral research fellows who wish to pursue research in all areas of science, engineering and technology at publicly funded South African higher education institutions, science councils and national research facilities. A small number of fellowships are also made available to South African citizens who wish to undertake postdoctoral research on a full-time basis at recognised institutions abroad. The objectives of this are to:

- increase the number and quality of postdoctoral research fellows in South Africa;
- enable South African postdoctoral fellows to obtain international research exposure;
- encourage outstanding international postdoctoral research fellows to undertake research in South Africa.

Fellowships are open to South African citizens and permanent residents who would like to undertake research in South Africa or abroad; and to outstanding international candidates from outside South Africa who wish to undertake research in South Africa. Eligible applicants must have completed their doctoral degrees within the last five years.

Funding is worth a yearly stipend of ZAR150,000, an international travel grant of up to ZAR150,000 and an institutional contribution of ZAR15,000 per year.

VINNMER MARIE CURIE INCOMING
Vinnova Verket för Innovationssystem – Swedish Governmental Agency for Innovation Systems

Description:
Vinnova invites applications under its VINNMER Marie Curie incoming call. The purpose of this call is to strengthen qualification opportunities for international researchers through increased mobility opportunities, by visiting and working in Swedish host organisations. The overall objective is to contribute significantly to private-public or public-public sector collaboration and mobility as well as career development for highly qualified future leaders, in all sectors of the economy, with innovation skills in applied and needs-driven research.

The call is aimed at two categories of researchers:
- internationally experienced researchers, with four or more years of research experience;
- highly experienced researchers with 10 or more years of research experience.

Mobility actions are open to all nationals and relate only to transnational movement of researchers with strong support from their host organisations. In the case of internationally experienced researchers, collaboration between host- and cooperating international organisations is required. In the case of highly experienced researchers, such collaboration is optional.

Vinnova funding for the programme as a whole will amount to SEK120 million, with an additional €10m in EU funding through Marie Curie actions. Co-financing from applicants is expected to amount to SEK100m to SEK150m. An incoming phase would typically last eight to 36 months.

CLINICAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP
Alzheimer's Research UK

Description:
Alzheimer’s Research UK invites applications for its clinical research fellowship. These support clinically qualified persons in conducting clinical or basic projects. All applications must fall within ARUK’s remit: research into causes, cures, preventions, diagnoses and treatments for Alzheimer’s disease and related dementias.

The lead applicant and point of contact must be based in a UK academic or research institution. The application can include researchers or institutions outside the UK.

Prospective fellows are required to have secured a supervisor: a senior established investigator in the institution where the fellowship is to be held. The supervisor will provide facilities for the research programme, will have oversight of the fellow and their research, and will contribute to the fellow’s further training.

Lead supervisors must hold tenure or tenure-track appointments. Co-supervisors must either hold a tenure or tenure-track appointment, or have a salary guaranteed from another source. Applications must be made by the prospective fellow, not the supervisors.

The scheme provides a salary and a contribution towards research and travel costs for up to three years. Research and travel costs are normally covered up to £10,000 per year, but requests of up to £15,000 per year may be considered for inherently costly research.

YOUNG INVESTIGATOR AWARD
American Society of Clinical Oncology

Description:
The American Society of Clinical Oncology invites applications for its young investigator award. This award provides funding to promising investigators to encourage and promote quality research in clinical oncology. The purpose of the award is to fund physicians during the transition from a fellowship programme to a faculty appointment. Proposals with a clinical research focus are supported; preclinical in vitro and animal studies are acceptable as long as the outcome of these studies would ultimately lead to patient-orientated clinical research.

Applicants must be physicians (MD, DO or international equivalent with explanation) who are currently in the last two years of their subspecialty training at an academic medical institution at the time of grant submission. The applicant must also be a member of ASCO, or submit a membership application with the grant application. The amount of the award is US$50,000 for one year. Applicants must have a mentor in the proposed research field from a sponsoring institution.

Closing date: 20 Sep 14 (Forecast)

VISITING SENIOR FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM
National Gallery of Art

Description:
The Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts, a part of the National Gallery of Art, announces its program for the Paul Mellon and Ailsa Mellon Bruce visiting senior fellowships. Fellowships are for full time research, and scholars are expected to reside in Washington and to participate in the activities of the center throughout the fellowship period. Lectures, colloquia, and informal discussions complement the fellowship program. Applications will be considered for study in the history, theory and criticism of the visual arts, including painting, sculpture, architecture, landscape architecture, urbanism, prints and drawings, film, photography, decorative arts, industrial design, and other arts, of any geographical area and of any period. Applications are also solicited from scholars in other disciplines whose work examines artifacts or has implications for the analysis and criticism of physical form.

Fellowships are intended for those who have held a PhD for five years or more or who possess an equivalent record of professional accomplishment at the time of application. Fellowships are awarded without regard to the age or nationality of applicants.

There are up to 12 short-term fellowships lasting up to 60 days. Fellows receive a stipend that includes round-trip travel and local expenses. Stipends for a two-month fellowship range from $6,000 to $8,000, depending on relocation requirements. Fellows also receive allowances for photography.

VISITING MILLER RESEARCH PROFESSORSHIPS
Miller Institute for Basic Research in Science

Description:
The Miller Institute of the University of California invites nominations for its visiting Miller research professorships. These aim to bring promising or eminent scientists to the Berkeley campus on a short-term basis for collaborative research interactions. Terms of appointment may range from a minimum of two weeks to a maximum of one semester (120 days). Faculty members or research scientists from any place in the world are eligible to be considered for sponsorship. Non-US citizens must be eligible for J-1 Scholar visa status. Nominations must be made by Berkeley faculty by way of their academic department chair. Appointees are expected to be in residence during their entire tenure.

The institute provides a monthly stipend of US$6,000 plus a daily living allowance of US$131. It also supports the transportation costs of the appointee for one round trip to and from Berkeley, typically to a maximum of US$600 within the US and up to US$1,800 for foreign travel.

AIDES À LA FORMATION-RECHERCHE PHD GRANTS

National Research Fund Luxembourg

Description:
The National Research Fund Luxembourg invites applications for its AFR PhD grants. This programme has no thematic limitations and is open to all researchers, regardless of their nationality, who wish to engage in research training in Luxembourg or abroad. However, the interest of the project in the context of Luxembourg research and development will be evaluated during the selection process.

Applicants must hold a university degree that allows them to enter into doctoral training.

Grants are initially awarded for up to three years, with a one-year extension possible. Where an applicant has a work contract, the maximum funding will be €40,154 per year, or up to €44,030 in the case of a public-private partnership. Applicants without work contracts will receive a maximum of €18,000 per year with supplements of €1,200 per year in the case of a public-private partnership.

Closing date: 23 Sep 14
Deadline information: Applications due by 2pm CET. Deadlines on: 20 March 2014, 23 September 2014.

ENIOR NON-CLINICAL FELLOWSHIP
Medical Research Council

Description:
The Medical Research Council invites applications for its senior non-clinical fellowship. This provides non-clinical researchers of exceptional ability with opportunities to develop themselves to be research leaders. Applicants should be proven independent researchers with a track record of excellence in their scientific field who demonstrate significant promise as future research leaders. Proposals are encouraged across all areas of MRC’s remit from basic molecular science to applied clinical research.

Applicants normally hold a PhD or DPhil and have at least six years’ postdoctoral research experience in academia or the wider economy at the time of the closing date. Applications from current MRC career development award holders are particularly welcome. There are no residence eligibility restrictions for this fellowship. Candidates from outside the UK must establish with their proposed host research organisation prior to application that they may reside and work in the UK, and it is the responsibility of the research organisation to ensure that all necessary permits are in place for the fellow.

The award provides a personal salary for the fellow, research support staff, research consumables expenses and capital equipment for the research project, travel costs and other items under full economic costs at a UK research organisation. The fellowship may be awarded for any period up to seven years.

Closing date: 24 Sep 14
Deadline information: Applications accepted between 19 March and 4pm, 30 April and between 13 August and 4pm, 24 September 2014.

ANTING POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS
Government of Canada – Gouvernement du Canada

Description:
The Government of Canada invites applications for the Banting postdoctoral fellowships. These support postdoctoral applicants who will contribute to Canada’s economic, social and research-based growth. Fellowships are distributed equally among the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council.

Applications are welcomed from candidates of all nationalities given that they have fulfilled all requirements for a PhD, a PhD-equivalent or health professional degree on a date between 24 September 2011 and 15 August 2015. However, a two-year extension to this window is available for candidates who are health professionals previously engaged in post-degree non-research related clinical training or candidates whose career has been interrupted or delayed due to childbearing, illness or health-related family responsibilities.

Canadian citizens or permanent residents who have obtained their degree from a Canadian university may hold their fellowship at a Canadian or foreign university, affiliated research hospital, college or non-profit organisation with a strong research mandate and capacity. Non-Canadian applicants must hold their award at a Canadian institution.

Fellowships are worth CA$70,000 per year for two years, and 70 awards are available every year.

LAIN BENSOUSSAN FELLOWSHIPS
European Research Consortium for Informatics and Mathematics

Description:
The European Research Consortium for Informatics and Mathematics invites applications for the Alain Bensoussan fellowship programme.

This enables young scientists to work on challenging problems at leading European centres outside their own country. Topics of interest are in the areas of computer systems and software, data management, information technology and mathematics.

Applicants should have obtained a PhD degree during the eight years before the application deadline or be in the last year of the thesis work, having completed the PhD before starting the grant, and must be fluent in English.

Each fellow will receive a monthly allowance of between €1,250 and €3,550, depending on the host country, and will be reimbursed for travel expenses. Fellows must spend at least one week visiting another ERCIM member institute; ERCIM-EEIG will cover reasonable expenses up to €100 per month over the fellowship period for this.

The Rotary Foundation invites applications for its ambassadorial scholarships. The purpose of the ambassadorial scholarships program is to further international understanding and friendly relations among people of different countries and geographical areas. The program sponsors academic year scholarships for graduate students as well as for qualified professionals pursuing vocational studies. While abroad, scholars serve as goodwill ambassadors to the host country and give presentations about their homelands to Rotary clubs and other groups. Upon returning home, scholars share with Rotarians and others the experiences that led to a greater understanding of their host country.

Closing date: 30 Sep 14 (Forecast)
Deadline information: Call has not yet been announced by funder but this is the approximate deadline we expect. Deadline: applications must be submitted through the applicant's local rotary club. This call is repeated once a year.

ACCESS TO LEARNING AWARD
Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

Description:
The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation invites applications for its access to learning award. This award recognises the innovative efforts of public libraries and similar institutions outside the US to connect people to information and opportunities through free access to computers and the internet. Organisations should be making innovative efforts to:

- make computers and internet access free to the public;
- train the public in using technology and accessing information;
- educate staff on technology use;
- reach out to underserved communities;
- demonstrate how other communities might replicate their approach.

Applicant organisations should currently provide free public access to information through the use of computers and the internet. Applications from institutions in developing countries or from those working with disadvantaged communities are particularly encouraged. Joint applications are not permitted. Applications must be written in English. The award is worth US$1 million, to be spent exclusively in furtherance of the charitable, educational, scientific or literary aims of the recipient organisation.
